

Cookies

Healthwatch Birmingham puts small files (known as cookies) onto your computer to collect information about how you browse the site. These cookies are set when you submit a form, login or interact with the site by doing something that goes beyond clicking on simple links.

Cookies are used to:

- Measure the site so it can be updated and improved based on your needs
- Remember the notifications you've seen so that we do not show them to you again.

Cookies are not used to identify you personally nor do they store your personal information (i.e. your name or address). You will normally see a message on the site before we store a cookie on your computer. Some cookies on this site are essential, and the site won't work as expected without them. If you're not happy with this, we won't set these cookies but some nice features of the site may be unavailable.